Subject: Delay in Swinomish proposal review

Hi Tiffany,

Thanks for coming up yesterday; Michael and I felt it was really helpful to meet with you and Steve in person.

I apologize about the delay in reviewing the Suquamish and Swinomish proposals. I should have Suquamish to you by the end of the week. However, Swinomish will probably take a bit longer.

We kind of alluded to this tangentially during yesterday's talk. Way back when (see old e-mails below), a reviewer had raised a question about whether the activities in the Swinomish proposal verged on lobbying, which can't be funded under our funding. At that time, it turned out to be okay, but this time around, since the proposal talks directly about supporting a ballot initiative, the attorneys want to take a bit of a closer look at it. We may not be able to resolve this before the holidays, so I apologize, but I think their input will help make sure the grant stays solidly within grant regs.

Again, I am sorry about this delay. I'll try to keep you updated as quickly as I can.

Lisa

Oh dear - I am sorry I overlooked that. Maja brought it to my desk yesterday afternoon, so I am assuming she signed it yesterday. So if you do not mind, is it possible for you to just hand-write in 2/23? These bureaucratic processes can be very aggravating until one has a fail-safe process nailed down.

I think I should have the Swinomish comments back to you today - I am sorry they took longer than I planned, but we actually had to confer with headquarters attorneys about lobbying provisions in our grants regulations, since the proposal seeks to directly influence legislation and decision-makers. The good news is, we do not believe the proposed crosses the line on lobbying restrictions, although we may suggest some tweaks to minimize the possibility that the work would be misperceived as lobbying.

On the Muckleshoot proposal, the reviewer sent me comments but asked to meet with me to discuss the comments, and I have unfortunately not been able to connect with her because of our schedules.

On the Nisqually proposals, two key reviewers I have selected have been out all week, but I am going to aim to get you comments on those next week.

Hey Lisa, that's it's no problem at all. I've signed it and am now integrating it into the full QAPP now. One quick question: I'm seeing that Maja didn't date her signature, is that something that is absolutely necessary or is it fine as is?

Thanks!
Tiffany

Hi Tiffany,

Here is the Stillaguamish QAPP signature page with EPA signatures. Again, I am sorry about the backward "flow" on this one. Thank you for turning this around.
